Are you interested in a career in Law but not sure how to get there?

The purpose of Discover Law is to raise the aspirations of young people whose family or personal circumstances mean they may not have considered studying at university, or a career in law as a possibility.

Discover Law is a two year programme of events for year 12 students in local schools and colleges providing lots of opportunities to explore the study of law and to learn about what university is like. Throughout the scheme participants work closely with our current law undergraduates, some of whom came through Discover Law themselves.

“I really did provide me with an insight into what studying law entailed and the practical side to law. It also helped me to understand what career opportunities a law degree would bring”

Over the 2 years of the programme we will provide a broad range of activities; some will be field trips to different places, while others will be based at the University. Participants will be away from school or college for no more than two days each term, and some activities may take place during the school holidays. All activities are completely free and by taking part, you will be able to explore:

What it’s like to study Law at University?
- Learn what studying law at the University of Sheffield is really like from our current undergraduates
- Meet Professors and Lecturers from the Law Department
- Find out about the different degrees on offer
- Attend Open Days and see the student accommodation
- Get help and advice on your UCAS application and student finance

Law as a subject
- Academic taster sessions on different areas of law
- Visit the Crown Courts to see real cases in action
- Understand the penal system – visit a local prison.
- Learn how law has developed throughout history

Careers in Law
- Talk to law professionals including Solicitors, Barristers, Paralegals and Judges
- Visit a law firm
- Work experience placements
- Advice from the University of Sheffield Careers Service

Academic study skills for higher education
- Help with revision & exam techniques
- Research and essay writing
- Team working exercises
- Presentation skills

Note: Taking part in the programme doesn’t guarantee you a place at the university but it does show commitment and could enhance your university application.

“I found the programme particularly useful because it helped me decide not only whether law was the right degree, but also whether the University of Sheffield was a suitable place of study. I also gained a greater understanding of different legal careers, so by the time I had completed the programme I knew exactly how a career in law would develop and the steps to be taken in the process.”
