Assessment of Display Screen Equipment

Instructions

The function of an assessment is to determine whether all the necessary equipment is present and in working order, and that the environment is appropriate for DSE work. All employee workstations must meet the standard. If the workstation is for students only, it is not covered by the Regulations and does not have to comply with the DSE equipment standards. Nevertheless, it is obviously desirable that workstations for student use are as good as is reasonably practicable.

Whilst it is useful to have the normal user/operator of the work station present, this is not essential and indeed may not be possible with a multi-user set-up.

If the employee is a person with a physical condition which requires the use of special seating (eg a wheelchair or backless stool), this overrides the normal workstation requirements. However, it must be medically recommended.

A copy of the assessment must be kept at/near the workstation and a copy filed away for reference.

Assessments must be repeated if there is any change of workstation furniture, display screen equipment or software or a noticeable increase in the time that the person spends on the equipment.
