Publications & conference presentations
Dr Sharron Hinchliff
(s.hinchliff@sheffield.ac.uk)

Journal articles

Book chapters

Hinchliff, S. (Forthcoming). Sexing-up the midlife woman: Cultural representations of ageing, femininity, and the sexy body. Harleys and Hormones: Ageing, Popular Culture and Contemporary Feminism

Reviews & commentaries

Other publications

Hinchliff, S. (2013). Sexuality and intimacy in middle and late adulthood. In the International Longevity Centre (UK) Compendium of Essays: Ageing and Women- Has the sisterhood forgotten older women?

Conference presentations

Hinchliff, S. & Gott, M. (2012). Interactions between health professionals and older adults about their sexual health and well-being needs. Division of Health Psychology Annual Conference, Liverpool UK

Hinchliff, S. Gott, M. & Ingleton, C. (2011). A qualitative study of the changes in sexual life women can experience at midlife and menopause. 20th World Congress for Sexual Health, Glasgow

Hinchliff, S. (2011). Barriers to seeking and receiving help for sexual concerns in mid and later life. British Association of Sexual Educators symposium @ the 20th World Congress for Sexual Health, Glasgow

Hinchliff, S. & Gott, M. (2004). Impact of sexual problems on psychological well-being: Experiences of women who have lost sexual desire. Let’s talk about sex... conference. Trent Focus, Trent Institute for Health Services Research and Sheffield Teaching Hospitals NHS Trust Conference. Northern General Hospital, Sheffield

Hinchliff, S. & Gott, M. (2004). ‘There’s something wrong with you if you don’t enjoy it’: Women’s sexual problems and psychological well-being. British Psychological Society Division of Health Psychology Annual Conference. Queen Margaret University College, Edinburgh

