Title: Fascism in Great Britain Collection

Scope: A collection of published and unpublished documents relating to Fascism and other right-wing movements in 20th century Britain up to the period of the demise of the Union Movement, but including critical and biographical material published after the period. It is intended primarily for the use of Third-year History students.

Dates: 1901-
Extent: circa 150 volumes

Administrative / biographical history:
The collection was formerly housed in the Department of Economic & Social History but was transferred to the Main Library in 1987, since when further material has been added. It includes a number of scarce pamphlets, and includes for the most part documents produced by the British Union of Fascists before 1940, as well as more overtly anti-Semitic material produced by organisations such as the Sons of Liberty and the Imperial Fascist League.

Related collections: British Union Collection, Cooper Collection, Fascism in Europe Collection, Joyce Papers, Robert Saunders Papers

Bellamy, Richard Reynell
We marched with Mosley; by R. Reynell Bellamy. - Holt, Norfolk : Bellamy, [1968]. - Unpublished typescript. Reconstituted by John Warburton. The author's original memoir, which formed a history of the British Union of Fascists, remained unpublished. At one point, it was prepared for publication by being abridged and divided into 3 separate volumes, which were given the titles "We marched with Mosley", "Memoirs of a Fascist beast" and "Mosley in perspective". During this preparation, part of the original complete version was lost, and the whole original work was subsequently reconstituted by John Warburton under the general title "We marched with Mosley". This reconstituted version includes all the information contained in the separate abridged volumes. [Z0951646]

Bellamy, Richard Reynell
We marched with Mosley: a British Fascist's view of the twentieth century. [1988]. - Typescript of Vol.1 of abridged unpublished 3-volume version. The author's original memoir, which formed a history of the British Union of Fascists, remained unpublished. At one point, it was prepared for publication by being abridged and divided into 3 separate volumes, which were given the titles "We marched with Mosley", "Memoirs of a Fascist beast" and "Mosley in perspective". During this preparation part of the original complete version was lost, and the whole original work was subsequently reconstituted by John Warburton under the general title "We marched with Mosley".
