5. For the avoidance of doubt, the University of Sheffield is not responsible for checking or verifying that individual applicants are legally entitled to work in the United Kingdom and does not accept any liability whatsoever in this regard. In addition:
- The Careers Service is unable to provide advice to employers on legislation relevant to the recruitment of non-EEA nationals. Any queries should be addressed to the UKBA or to an appropriately qualified legal adviser.
 - We are unable to publish advertisements or promote organisations that have a blanket ban on overseas recruitment (unless they are exempt from discrimination provisions under the Equality Act or other legislation relating to employment). Statements which make reference to restrictions of this nature could deter potentially eligible candidates from applying for job vacancies and is misleading. All candidates should be treated the same and their applications assessed on merits and suitability for the job alone. Any text which makes reference to restrictions on the recruitment of non-EEA nationals, eg 'candidates must have permission to work in the UK' will be replaced with 'The successful candidate must, by the start of their employment, have permission to work in the UK'.
 - In order to fulfil your obligations as an employer, we suggest that you tell all candidates you invite for interview about the documentation you will need to see in order to assess their eligibility to work in the UK. You should also consider giving potential employees the option of indicating if they will need assistance from your company in applying for immigration permission to work in the UK.
6. Vacancy entries submitted by recruitment agencies, on behalf of clients, should be entered under the agency name and will only be advertised where the client name is supplied. This can be kept confidential from students and graduates. Recruitment agencies can also advertise roles within their own organisation and supply agencies can invite applications for supply work. Other opportunities for recruitment agencies to promote the services which they offer are available at: <http://tiny.cc/agencyssheffield>

7. The contact details submitted by employers will be kept confidential by the University of Sheffield but may be used by the University for other purposes such as partner initiatives
8. The University of Sheffield does not recommend individual students and graduates apply to a particular employer or for individual jobs advertised by the Careers Service nor does it provide employers with details of students and graduates who may be suitable for particular posts.
9. The University of Sheffield does not accept any responsibility or liability whatsoever for the performance and/or behaviour of students and graduates either during the application process or as employees or workers of an organisation.
10. You are solely responsible for ensuring that you comply with all applicable employment, data protection and health and safety legislation in the course of employing students and graduates. You are also solely responsible for ensuring that you have appropriate employer's liability insurance in place at all times. The Careers Service may require you to provide evidence that appropriate employer's liability insurance is in place.
