

Statement regarding responsibility for overseeing research integrity within the University and the first point of contact for research integrity matters

As Vice-President for Research and Innovation and Chair of the University's Research and Innovation Committee, Professor David Petley, has overarching responsibility for the University's approach to fostering high standards of good research practice throughout the University's research community. Collectively the Committee's members are responsible for keeping under review and supporting the implementation of the University's approach within the Faculties.

However, for practical purposes, the first point of contact for receiving enquiries on matters concerning good research practice (e.g. what constitutes good practice, what constitutes unacceptable practice, and information on existing support resources) is Mrs Lindsay Unwin, Ethics & Integrity Officer in Research Services:
