ADRIAN BINGHAM: PUBLICATIONS (JUNE 2017)

Summary: 3 books in print, 1 edited collection in print, 2 journal special issues in print, 8 chapters in print (3 in press), 14 original articles in print (1 in press), various reviews and short pieces

Books – in print

1. (co-written, 80% Bingham, 20% Martin Conboy), Tabloid Century: The Popular Press in Britain, 1896 to the present (Oxford: Peter Lang, 2015), Book, viii + 258 pages
   Summary: This book examines how the popular press represented Britain to its readers across the twentieth century, not only narrating major public events such as wars, political campaigns and coronations, but also describing and defining personal and social identities such as gender, sexuality, class and race. It provides a concise and accessible overview of the rise of the tabloid format that came to dominate the media culture of the period.

   Summary: This book provides the first detailed historical study of the modern popular press’s coverage of sex and private life, from the start of the mass newspaper reading boom in 1918 to the triumph of the Sun’s sexualised journalism in 1978. By examining the production, content, and reception of these newspapers, the book provides valuable new insights into the sexual culture of modern Britain.

   Summary: This book uses the popular press to explore the attitudes and identities of inter-war Britain, and in particular the reshaping of femininity and masculinity. It provides a fresh insight into a period when women and men were coming to terms with rapid social change, and deepens our understanding of the development of the modern media.

Book (edited collection) – in print

   Summary: Includes the transcript of a witness seminar held in June 2005, an interview with a key member of the PCC, and some government papers obtained by FOI requests. Includes a brief introductory paper. Published in pamphlet form and online.

Journal special issue – in print

5. ““Peace and Future Cannon Fodder”? Journalism and the Great War after 1918”, special issue of Journalism Studies, 17/4 (2016)
   Summary: Collection of nine articles, and an introduction, from an international group of scholars in History, and English and Journalism/Media Studies, addressing the journalistic portrayal of the First World War after 1918 in the UK, US, Germany, France, Ireland and Australia

6. (edited with Professor Martin Conboy) ‘Journalism and History: Dialogues’, special issue of Media History, 19/1 (Feb. 2013) [joint]
   Summary: Collection of five articles, ranging from 17th to the 21st centuries, and a co-written introduction.
Chapters – in print

11. ‘Representing the people? The Daily Mirror, class, and political culture in inter-war Britain’ in Laura Beers and Geraint Thomas (eds.), Brave New World: Imperial and Democratic Nation-building in Britain between the Wars (London: Institute of Historical Research, 2012)

Chapters – in press

16. ‘Modern housecraft? Women’s pages in the national daily press’ in Catherine Clay, Maria DiCenzo, Barbara Green and Fiona Hackney (eds), The Edinburgh Companion to Women’s Media in Inter-War Britain (Edinburgh University Press, forthcoming)

Refereed Journals – in print – original articles

27. (with Dr Martin Conboy) ‘The Daily Mirror and the Creation of a Commercial Popular Language: A People’s War, a People’s Paper?’, Journalism Studies, 10/5 (2009), pp. 639-54. [Joint]

31. ‘‘Stop the Flapper Vote Folly”: Lord Rothermere, the Daily Mail and the equalisation of the franchise 1927-28’, Twentieth Century British History, 13/1 (2002), pp. 17-37.

Refereed journals – in press – original articles

Refereed Journals – in print – reviews

Other Publications (short pieces) – in print
• ‘Historians give their verdict on the ‘post-truth’ world, BBC History Magazine (Mar. 2017)
• [with Lucy Delap, Louise Jackson and Louise Settle] ‘A Hidden History’, History Today, October 2015, pp. 29-32
• [with Louise Settle] ‘Scandals and Silences: The British press and child sexual abuse’, History and Policy, August 2015
• [with Lucy Delap, Louise Jackson and Louise Settle] ‘Before Jimmy Savile, there was “Mr G” – the 1920s philanthropist who abused children in hospitals’, The Conversation, Feb. 2015
• ‘How did he get away with so much for so long? The press and Jimmy Savile’, Open Democracy and History & Policy (June 2014)
• Entries for Godfrey Winn and Robert Pitman for Oxford Dictionary of National Biography (c. 1000 words each, 2014)
• ‘The Paper that Foretold the War’, History Today, December 2013 (2,500 words)
• Four 2,500-word essays on the history of the Daily Mail for the digitisation of the archive by Gale Cengage: http://gale.cengage.co.uk/daily-mail-historical-archive/essays.aspx
• ‘No more reports, please: Lord Leveson and the uses of history’, History & Policy, Dec. 2012
• ‘Swinging – only pampas grass is quite as suburban – and as British’, Independent on Sunday, 4 December 2011 (1,500 words)
• ‘Monitoring the popular press: an historical perspective’, History and Policy, June 2005 (4,132 words)
• ‘Get your ankles out for the lads’, Times Higher Education Supplement, 25 June 2003 (687 words).

Other Publications – in print – reviews
• BBC History Magazine (5)